A Unique Club

Boasting three quality courses at Cape Schanck including the recently redesigned Tom Doak Gunnamatta course, and a fourth Sandbelt style course in Frankston, The National is the only 72-hole private members golf club in Australia.

From the breathtaking natural beauty of the Mornington Peninsula which enjoys stunning coastal and rural views, to the challenging Long Island layout within easy reach of the Melbourne CBD, The National is truly a “unique club”.

The Old Course

ROBERT TRENT JONES JNR

Currently ranked number 19 in Australia.
With spectacular views over Mornington Peninsula and Bass Strait, The Old Course offers a standout experience.

ABOUT THE COURSE

Designed by Robert Trent Jones Jnr, The Old Course is a dramatic layout constructed on undulating terrain, with fairways weaving between and over large sand dunes, bordered by tea tree and rich native coastal vegetation. Boasting a wealth of exciting shots, perhaps most notably the short par-3 seventh, fused with boldly undulating greens, deceptively wide fairways and striking bunkering, The Old Course remains one of the premier golfing experiences in Australia, and amongst the most memorable anywhere in the world.

“One of the great golf complexes anywhere in the world.” ROBERT TRENT JONES JNR

Moonah Course

GREG NORMAN & BOB HARRISON

Currently ranked number 11 in Australia.
Set within the glorious Cups Country, the Moonah course offers a rugged, natural and more modern-style layout.

ABOUT THE COURSE

Taking its name from the ancient indigenous coastal Moonah trees scattered throughout the property, Moonah calls for strong tee shots and intelligent play, offering hole after hole of challenge and interesting golf. Featuring open fairways and towering dunes, the par-5s here are a standout feature, rewarding bold, accurate play throughout. The greens, meanwhile, give a superior set of natural putting surfaces, inspired in location, and boasting variety and artistry. By far one of the most enjoyable walks in Australian golf, and one of the nation's very best courses.

“There is something truly pure about links golf, and this is the philosophy that my team and I followed when we designed the Moonah course at The National.” GREG NORMAN

Gunnamatta

T O M D O A K

Currently ranked number 8 in Australia.

Acclaimed course architect Tom Doak recently redesigned the former Ocean course to produce an interesting, dramatic and strategic layout.

A B O U T T H E C O U R S E

Situated by the thundering whitewash of Gunnamatta Beach, Doak embraced the natural ‘cup’ and ‘bowl’ undulations of the region’s sandy terrain, delivering generous fairways, natural bunkering, and imaginative green shapes with excellent ground contours for ample creativity near the hole. Boasting an array of excellent short par fours, few courses manage to pack as much stimulation, playability and enjoyment into 18 holes as this one.

“It’s got a character all of its own – it’s perfect land for golf.” T O M D O A K

Long Island

GORDON OLIVER

Currently ranked number 44 in Australia.

At the gateway to the Mornington Peninsula on the fringes of the revered Melbourne Sandbelt, Long Island is a more traditional-styled parkland course offering a different measure and tone to its Cape Schanck siblings.

ABOUT THE COURSE

Long Island is considered by many to be a hidden gem amongst Melbourne's hallowed golfing landscapes. With a mix of tea-tree and majestic gum tree lined couch fairways the course has a great variety of well-designed holes requiring skill and strategy to navigate. The immaculately presented greens demand precise play.

The Finest Facilities

The National is widely considered one of Australia's premier golfing facilities - and it's easy to see why!

At Cape Schanck views of the Mornington Peninsula landscape and sweeping vistas of the ocean can be enjoyed from the award-winning architectural clubhouse which is home to superb dining and bar facilities, large Members' change-rooms and an underground carpark.

The Cape Schanck Clubhouse is a great venue for pre- and post-game hospitality and is also a popular location to host special events such as wedding receptions, private functions and conferences.

The Golf Shop is fully stocked with all of the latest in golfing equipment and apparel and Members also have unlimited access to state-of-the-art practice facilities, including an undercover driving range and in-house golf teaching professionals.

Access to the Cape Schanck facilities is now significantly more convenient as the Peninsula Link freeway has reduced travel time for those living closer to the city.

The Long Island course and amenities located in Frankston offers Members an even wider choice and greater accessibility to utilise and add value to their membership.

The recently upgraded practice facilities have proven to be very popular and widely used by Members.
