Captain

Andrew J. Tunks

First year of membership at The National Golf Club: 2009

QUALIFICATIONS

- B.Sc (Hons) Monash University
- Ph.D. University of Tasmania

SPECIAL RESPONSIBILITIES

- Club Captain
- Membership Sub-Committee
- Match Sub-Committee

EXPERIENCE

Andrew served in the Australian Army before completing a Science degree majoring in geology. He has more than 30 years' leadership experience in global mining and exploration, leading teams to mineral discoveries in Ghana, Botswana and Brazil. He also served as Senior Lecturer in Economic Geology at the University of Tasmania.

He has held managing director and board roles with ASX and internationally listed companies, including ACAP Energy, Botswana Minerals and Auroch Minerals, and is currently Chairman of Meteoric Resources. Andrew also helped design and build Ghana's Damang Golf Club, which grew into an 18-hole course. He brings strong communication skills, strategic insight and extensive team leadership experience.

The National